Q3. Please indicate why you gave this rating or highlight observed strengths or areas needed for improvement.

In reviewing this with Quinn, this is an area that he both does, well, but also is just learning what might be more effective. He regularly brings gospel principles into his classroom and student discussions, but is still trying to understand how to make those conversations more effective.

Q20. Please indicate why you gave this rating or highlight observed strengths or areas needed for improvement.

Quinn has an excellent class presence, he is a natural at interacting with students. He is also well versed in the kinds of skills our students need to be successful. What I have been impressed with is his ability, even this early on, to understand how to change a class to make it more effective. He has been an invaluable resource as we modify our courses to make them more engaging and help the students be successful.

Q8. Please indicate why you gave this rating or highlight observed strengths or areas needed for improvement.

Here is another area where Quinn is already excellent, but also learning a lot about how to be even more effective. Coordinating a set of students with very different strengths and capabilities is a difficult challenge, and there are lots of nuances. Quinn is aware of what he doesn't know, which is an excellent capability to have.

Q13. Please indicate why you gave this rating or highlight observed strengths or areas needed for improvement.

Quinn came to us directly from industry, and has a wealth of information about what might be required from our students, not only now but in the future. As a manager he had visibility across the organization, and we are beginning to use that capability to inform not only our courses but also our certificates.

Q15. Please indicate why you gave this rating or highlight observed strengths or areas needed for improvement.

Quinn has fully engaged in our department. He is active not only in teaching his classes, but modifying those classes to be more effective. Above and beyond, he volunteered to lead the Society of Women Engineering chapter while Kristi Hansen as out this Spring. He has brought a wealth of insight into that role, as well as a passion for engaging more diversity in our program.

Q21.

Q17. What other feedback or information would you like to highlight about this candidate?

We are just very lucky to have Quinn, he is a wonderful addition to our program.

Q16. Overall, how is this faculty member helping move forward the mission of the University?

The focus, as noted in our last leadership question and answer, is entry level jobs, as well as developing disciple leaders. Quinn is invaluable in helping us achieve this focus and brings the skills, knowledge, and motivation to move us forward.

Q18. What is your overall status rating for this candidate?

- ☐ Red – significant concerns
☐ Yellow – some concerns
☒ Green – no concerns

Q4. After reviewing the above information provided by the department chair, what additional comments, feedback or highlights would you add about the candidate? (If not, just type "none")

I met with Quinn and observed his teaching. Quinn is very engaged in the scholarship of learning and teaching and is committed to becoming an excellent teacher. He is well on his way and has great talents that will continue to bless students in his classes and the department. I heartily endorse his Green status.
